Much wow!

The screenshot displays the Tenzu web application interface. The top navigation bar includes the 'TENZU' logo and a breadcrumb trail: 'WORKSPACES / BIRU / PROJECTS / ONLINE FOOD DELIVERY / STORY'. The left sidebar contains a 'PROJECT / OF Online Food Delivery' section with a 'Kanban' view selector and a list of items: 'Main', 'Discovery', and 'UX Research'. Below this, there are 'Members' and 'Settings' links, and a 'Collapse' button. The main content area shows a 'Kanban Main / Story #1' view. The story title is 'Browse nearby restaurants'. The story content includes a user story: 'As a hungry client, I want to browse or search for nearby restaurant, So that I can easily find places to eat that match my location and preferences'. Below the story is a section titled 'Acceptance criteria' with a prompt 'Enter text or type "/" for commands'. Underneath is a section titled 'Geolocation-based results' with a bulleted list: 'The system should request user permission to access location data.', 'If granted, the user should see a list of nearby restaurant sorted by proximity', and 'If location permission is denied, show an option to enter location manually instead'. At the bottom of the story content are 'Undo' and 'Save' buttons. Below the story content is a '1 Comment' section with a text input field labeled 'Type a new comment here'.

The screenshot displays the Taiga legacy mode interface. On the left is a vertical timeline with a scale from -500 to 1700. The main area is titled 'Story editing' and shows a story card for 'KANBAN MAIN / STORY #253'. The story card has a 'Headline' section and two text blocks of Lorem Ipsum. The right-hand sidebar contains metadata for the story, including 'Status' (Discovery), 'Tag' (Tag 1, Tag 2, Tag 3), 'Created by' (Renee Jones), 'Assigned to' (GG), 'Watchers' (GG), and 'Points' (Total 17). Below this is a section for '3 Attachments' with a '+ File' button. A red arrow points from the '3 Attachments' section to a download icon on the right.
